

Rakesh Soni

Founder & CEO

Rakesh Soni is the Founder & CEO of LoginRadius. As a visionary leader, he has led his team to build a platform that makes it easier for millions of people to access technology and place identity at the forefront of security. Soni brings nearly two decades of experience to the company with his expertise in business development, board and investor relationships, fundraising, sales, and marketing. He holds an engineering degree from the Indian Institute of Technology and an MSc from the University of Alberta. Soni also loves to read. His commitment to continuous learning is evident in his dedication to reading over 30 books annually. He often shares his key takeaways with his colleagues and team members, encouraging them to read, learn, and grow together.

